

NEJM Journal Watch

Promotional copy: library blogs and social media

Blog posts - long

Take advantage of our institutional subscription to NEJM Journal Watch, a literature surveillance resource used by practicing clinicians to stay informed and current across multiple specialties. The most important research, medical news, drug information, public health alerts, and guidelines across 12 specialties are summarized and put into perspective by a team of physician-editors who are clinically active leaders in their field.

This continuously updated resource includes easy-to-read summaries and expert commentary of original research published in over 135 leading journals. Also included are reviews of the newest guidelines as well as articles on controversial clinical topics. Create a free personal account to receive content alerts by specialty and topic as well as a daily medical news alert.

NEJM Journal Watch gives busy clinicians the evidence and context they need to enhance patient care.

Blog posts - short

TAGLINE: Use literature surveillance to stay up to date

NEJM Journal Watch is a leading source for clinically relevant summaries and perspective. Its team of physician-editors reviews and summarizes the most important research in over 135 journals and also provides clinical takeaways and perspective on changing guidelines and controversial clinical topics.

Save time when reviewing literature and be confident that you are up to date on the most clinically relevant research when you turn to NEJM Journal Watch

Social Media Posts: Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn

New! Online access to NEJM Journal Watch now available through your library. Find reviews of key clinical research from over 135 journals.

Follow at: @JWatch